

BUSHKRAPINIZATION!

Why & How I coined a new word.

"I HAVE BEEN EXTREMELY FRUSTRATED THAT THERE IS NO WORD FOR WHAT WE ARE EXPERIENCING."

The untoward political and personal situation many Americans find thrust upon themselves has been very hard to describe in one word, but I have come up with something that, to me, seems to cover all bases. It all starts with Bush of course, as he is the leader of this new philosophy. I call it a new philosophy because he has successfully managed to package together multiple strains of questionable agendas into one "krappy" system devoted to increasing the wealth, prestige and power of the select few, i.e. , Bushkrapitization. He has enjoyed success with promoting this krapatization because of the support of these rich, powerful peers who can

Todays local example of Bushkrapitization is about the Rice Lake and Hayward VA clinics closing due to "lack of profits."

"Without advanced notification, the outpatient facilities that serve 900 vets were closed by Corporate Health and Wellness, the Kentucky-based (private) company that runs the clinics.

"We worked for years to get these two clinics opened, and now, just a few months after they opened their doors, they're gone and our veterans have been left holding the bag," said U.S. Rep. Dave Obey, D-Wausau. "It's behavior like this that shows why contracting out government services is a real risk to the taxpayer and the American public."

Privatizing government functions lets the scoundrels in to ignore the citizen patrons they supposedly serve. Stuff like this has been happening all over and will continue to get worse if bushkrapitization isn't stopped.

generally be referred to truthfully as "Conservatives" as they are mostly concerned with conserving their own ideology, conserving their own money and conserving their own power. Bush's particular form of krapatization depends heavily on severely weakening the federal government as it is the only entity powerful enough to regulate and police those powerful forces that have placed him where he is today. Promoting "Privatization" as a SOLUTION to EVERYTHING is essential to the success of krapatization, as free enterprise unfettered by federal regulation allows unstoppable consolidation of resources by the few. It takes money to make money and the people with the most money NOW will end up with all of it LATER. Spending us all into massive debt and saddling our grandchildren with huge tax burdens ensures that the federal government will remain emasculated and too feeble to protect the common person from the juggernaut that Bush is creating, Bushkrapitization may very well devour America. What has made this work is a consistent strategy of lying loud, often and relentlessly; attacking all opposition with lies and exaggerations; rewarding loyalty with total protection from the consequences of any illegal or nefarious activities and trying to control information by buying up all types of media and planting skills to disseminate their own propaganda. The bushkrapitization of global warming is a prime example.

Investigation into Bush climate policies.*

"the Bush administration has engaged in a systematic effort to manipulate climate change science and mislead policymakers and the public about the dangers of global warming." reports a 16-month investigation."

No surprise. More bushkrapitization.

It said the White House had over the years suppressed scientific views that conflicted with administration policy and extensively edited government reports "to minimize the significance of climate change".

No surprise. More bushkrapitization.

found Quote:

"This administration censored any scientific statement which was contrary to their goals or the business community. It once again proves that Bush and cronies could not care less about the American people or the future of this nation."

No surprise. I heartily agree.

"There was a systematic White House effort to minimize the significance of climate change by editing climate change reports," they wrote.

No surprise. More bushkrapitization.

They said council staff edited the administration's "Strategic Plan of the Climate Change Science Program" to exaggerate scientific uncertainties or to diminish the importance of the human role in global warming.

No surprise. More bushkrapitization.

Bushkrapitization diminishes us all!
