

Reading Response Fiction

The setting is important because...

The setting of this story reminds me of ... because...

The main character reminds me of ... because...

The character I admire most is... because...

If I were a character in this story, I would...

The action in this story was realistic/unrealistic because...

I wonder why the author ...

I didn't understand the part where...

I didn't understand why the author ...

The character I can identify with is... because...

If I could write a new ending for the story I would change the ending to...

Reading Response Nonfiction

The information I learned by reading this text is similar/different from...

After reading this text, I still want to know...

I already knew... before I read this text but I learned...

Two new vocabulary words I learned about from this text are... and the meaning for each one is... I used the sentence before and the sentence after the word to help me figure out the meaning. Then I checked to see if I was right using the dictionary.

I think the main topic of this text is...

The picture, map, and/or chart helped me better understand the text better because...

If I could write a new title for this text it would be...

This text would have been better if the author had...