

Failure is Impossible

I recently saw a bumpersticker that read "Failure is impossible." That reminds me of a story about Thomas Edison...

One day a journalist was interviewing the great inventor. He asked Edison how he dealt with the 12,000 failures he experienced before he invented the lightbulb?

Edison said, "I didn't fail 12,000 times. I learned 12,000 ways not to invent the lightbulb."

What losers call "failure",
Winners see as feedback.

There is a very simple three-letter word that can turn losers into winners. And it can change a losing attitude into a winning one. This word is...

"yet"

What losers experience as failure,
Winners see as delayed success!

This little word "yet" will make a very little difference in your vocabulary BUT it will make a huge difference in your attitude.

This little difference can create a HUGE difference in your life...

Soooooooooooo....

Instead of saying "I can't do that."
How about "I can't do that YET."

Change "We can't beat that team."
to "We can't beat them YET."

If you don't understand something realize that you just don't understand it YET!!

Get the idea??? The reality of the situation is:

Failure is impossible
and Success is inevitable!

If it worked for Thomas Edison, it'll work for you.
