

SHELL 2007
The Society of Historical English Language and Linguistics
International Conference
7—9 September 2007

The Society of Historical English Language and Linguistics (SHELL) will hold a biennial conference on 7—9 September 2007.

All Events will take place in the meeting room on the ground floor of School of Letters in Higashi-yama Campus, Nagoya University. Detailed maps and information can be found in: <http://www.nagoya-u.ac.jp/en/index2.html>

The theme of the conference is historical English in general. So far we have accepted a workshop organized by Prof. Michiko Ogura: Old English versions of the Gospels - a dialectal-synchronic comparison. Two plenary papers will be given in the morning of the second and the third days. Abstracts of papers for 30 minutes should be submitted by the end of April 2007, up to 500 words in length, to Masachiyo Amano (mamano@lit.nagoya-u.ac.jp) or Tomoyuki Tanaka (tanakat@lit.nagoya-u.ac.jp) in doc (MS word) or PDF format.

Papers accepted will be published in the proceedings. (The papers read at the 2005 meeting was published as Textual and Contextual Studies in Medieval English: Towards the Reunion of Linguistics and Philology (ed. by Michiko Ogura) by Peter Lang.

Registration fee is ¥5,000 (€37, £25 or US$45). Everyone whose paper is accepted is asked to pay another ¥5,000 to the editorial board. The length of the final version to be printed should be about 5000 words including notes and references. Payment shall be done on arrival.

Accommodation will be available in the city center of Nagoya, which is one of the cities that have a superb subway system. Thus reserve a room at a hotel close a subway station. The hotel we recommend is:

This is a good hotel and comfortably accessible from the conference venue by subway. Unfortunately their web site is only in Japanese and if you have any questions or need
