*"Song go on, touch the part of me that's closed to all, save music,
Find the voice that's silent, yet can sing.
Make of me a vessel, holding melody's reward,
Savoring the sounds that unlock hearts.
Strike my soul with tones to lift men's minds.
Song go on – and make me whole."*

Sandra Chapman, Fort Madison, Iowa

When Sandra Chapman first penned the words of this poem, little did she know that she would be addressing an issue of such magnitude. A great challenge is looming on the horizon for the music education field. Increasing demands on classroom teachers are occurring as uncertain economic times threaten to cut staff, facilities, and programs. Within the next ten years, a large number of teachers will retire from the profession and many positions will need to be filled. The training, mentoring and encouragement of this new group of music educators is an important matter, one in which we all can have a part.

The ICDA Weston Noble Endowment Fund, has been created to underwrite experiences for the young choral directors of Iowa -- initially providing scholarships to our summer convention for Iowa vocal music educators who hold a signed contract and 0-2 years of teaching experience. Other scholarship programs are being developed as funds become available. By making a charitable contribution, you can be a part of seeing that the Song does Go On.
